

TUITION, FEES, DUE DATES, AND COLLECTIONS

Undergraduate Tuition

Seattle University has a standard flat-rate tuition schedule for undergraduate students. Under this policy, as of fall quarter, 2024, full-time undergraduate students enrolled for 12-18 quarter credit hours pay a standard flat-rate tuition.<sup>1</sup> Students taking more than 18 credits pay per credit hour for credits beyond 18.

Only full-time matriculated undergraduate and undergraduate post-baccalaureate students are eligible for flat-rate tuition.

Part-time matriculated undergraduate and undergraduate post-baccalaureate students pay per credit hour.

An undergraduate student registered for at least twelve (12) graded credits may audit a course at no additional cost up to eighteen (18) total credit hours. Those enrolled in fewer than twelve (12) graded credits, or more than eighteen (18) will be charged the regular audit per credit hour amount as published in the listing of tuition and fees within the current academic catalog.

Flat-rate tuition is in effect only for fall, winter, and spring quarters. Tuition for summer quarter enrollment is charged per-credit-hour regardless of the number of enrolled credits.

Additional program fees (e.g., wellness, technology, and orientation) and course fees, for laboratory fees and private music lessons, are not included in the flat-rate tuition.

Graduate and Non-Matriculated Tuition

Graduate and non-matriculated students pay per credit hour for all terms, regardless of the number of enrolled credits. Additional program fees (e.g., wellness, technology, and orientation) and course fees are charged in addition to the per credit tuition amounts.

Due Dates and Payments

Students are responsible for the payment of tuition, fees, and room and board each term. An Invoice will be posted to the Student Account Center on mySeattleU. Notices of account activity and outstanding balance are sent monthly to the student's official Seattle University email address and to any additional users authorized by the student. It is the student's responsibility to review their student account and address their balance due or contact Student Financial Services to resolve account questions. Payment or payment arrangements are due by the official tuition due date each quarter or within 10 business days of the initial registration, whichever comes later.

Official Tuition Due Dates:

Fall Quarter	September 20
Winter Quarter	December 20
Spring Quarter	March 20
Summer Quarter	June 20

Students who fail to make satisfactory arrangements to pay by the due date will be subject to a $50 late payment fee at 30- and 60-days past due. After the second late fee, if the account remains past due, the student account will be assessed a $100 in-house collection fee at 90-days past due. If the student fails to make satisfactory arrangements to bring the account current, the account will be referred to an outside collection agency no earlier than 150 days after the account becomes past due. The act of registration/withdrawal at Seattle University obligates the student for payment of all applicable tuition and fees, including a 1.0% per month finance charge (12% APR) that may be assessed on unpaid balance (including finance charges previously assessed), as well as any subsequent collection expenses and fees, and implies acceptance of the university's financial policies.

Any student with a past due account will be prohibited from registering for subsequent terms. No diploma will be released until the student's account is paid in full.

Student accounts referred to a collection agency may be reported to national credit bureaus. All costs, expenses, and fees, including but not limited to attorney fees, court costs and other out of pocket expenses, incurred by the university in collecting or attempting to collect a past due account are the responsibility of the student and shall be charged to the student's account.

Enrollment Confirmation Deposit

A Confirmation Deposit is required of all newly admitted students. This non-refundable deposit will be applied to initial quarter tuition charges. Students who fail to enroll will forfeit their deposits. The deposit may be carried forward for up to 4 quarters from the original term indicated on an application.
